

TO ALL:

I have been fortunate to call Scott a personal friend and one of my mentors for the past 4 years. He has helped me in so many ways to better understand my business and my life in general. A wealth of knowledge and he is not afraid to share, help, mentor, and take time out of his own life to do this for others. Truly a selfless man who deeply appreciates seeing others succeed and grow in their own lives. He does this not for pride or a dollar but simply because he “gives back” and wants those around him or those that he engages with to “move forward” whatever that may mean to them but he is willing and ready to take part in it.

We have been in our EO forum since the beginning days when I joined EO. This is the opportunity of how we have come to meet each other. At first I was a little intimidated by Scott because he has a strong determined personality but I never realized how much this man would impact my life. It has been a pleasure to get to know him on a much deeper level and learn from him in a plethora of ways. I had no clue what kind of value and takeaways that he would offer up.

I have asked Scott for personal and professional mentoring and guidance more than 4-5 times over the years since we have been friends. Each and every time we have gotten together, whether it was on a Saturday or Sunday, night, day or morning he has always been there for me. I pick up the phone and he is on the other end saying we can meet today or whenever you need too without fail or without question. I call him not only a friend but a brother and a person that will be in my life for the rest of my life without a doubt.
